We're taking the week off! Things are quite busy here around the estate lately. But you faithful listeners can rest assured that next week this time, Lord Peter shall once again enlighten you with his extensive knowledge on cheese and horned animals